JACKSONVILLE, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Aug. 19, 2021-- Financial technology leader FIS® (NYSE: FIS) today announced the winners of the 2021 FIS Impact Awards program. Independently judged by leading industry analyst group Celent, the annual program recognizes forward-looking organizations that use FIS technology to enhance customer service, drive tangible business results, and advance commerce and the financial world.

The 2021 Impact Award winners are Baker Boyer National Bank, Boost Payment Solutions, CDK Global, NRW.BANK, Quontic Bank and Walgreens. Entries were judged by Celent on the criteria of applied innovation, tangible return on investment and enhanced customer service.

For each winning entry, FIS is making a $10,000 donation to a charitable organization chosen by the winner through the FIS Foundation.

"The Impact Awards program brings together two of our core values at FIS: innovation and giving back," said Bruce Lowthers, President, FIS. "It's always exciting to see the innovative ways our technology is being used by our clients to better serve their customers and achieve their business goals. Congratulations to this year's winning entries and the charities that are doing such important work in their communities."

"We're struck by the innovative ways that firms in a variety of industries used technology to creatively increase efficiency and decrease costs," said Dan Latimore, Chief Research Officer at Celent. "The 2021 FIS Impact Award winners shared a focus on execution and a commitment to gaining organizational alignment, a prerequisite to the implementation of most technology projects."
