JACKSONVILLE, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Dec. 5, 2024-- Global financial technology leader FIS® (NYSE: FIS) proudly announced today the recognition of its latest cohort at the 2024 FIS Fintech Accelerator Innovation Day. Nine growth-stage fintech companies presented their technology at FIS' Innovation Center as part of the event on November 13 to an audience of partners and banking clients, showcasing innovative solutions that aim to bring clarity and unity to the money lifecycle.

This year's cohort includes nine pioneering fintech companies selected by FIS for their potential to bring the world's money into harmony while creating end to end experiences for potential clients, businesses and the global economy. Following the 12-week immersive initiative, nine proofs of concepts (POCs) are moving forward with plans to be finalized this year.

Two companies tied for the Audience Choice Award, a testament to the importance of advancing seamless and harmonious customer experiences. Both Prelim, a platform that digitizes the customer onboarding process, making it accessible on any device with its no-code tool, and MoneyKit, an aggregator that connects bank data to over 15,000 types of accounts to enable smooth and accurate flow of funds between various financial apps and platforms, took home top honors.

"It's a testament to the promise of the next generation of fintech innovators that all nine businesses will be moving forward from the 2024 FIS Fintech Accelerator in exploring use cases with FIS," said Hashim Toussaint, General Manager for Open and Digital Banking. "FIS' commitment to unlocking financial technology to the world is exemplified through these startups, who are revolutionizing the money lifecycle and addressing critical challenges in the financial services industry. Congratulations to all our participants for their hard work and commitment to powering the next generation of fintech."
