

ACCELERATING OUR PATH FORWARD TO CREATE TWO HIGHLY FOCUSED COMPANIES

Investor FAQ

1. What is the rationale for this transaction vs. the previously announced spinoff?

This new separation path creates a win-win for both companies and its stakeholders. The agreement marks an acceleration of the previously announced separation plan to create two highly focused global companies with greater strategic flexibility. The transaction enables greater agility and operational focus for both FIS and Worldpay to capitalize on their respective growth and margin opportunities in rapidly evolving markets.

For FIS, this new separation provides cash proceeds that will enable the Company to strengthen its balance sheet by accelerating the paying down of debt, while also providing capital for the repurchase of shares and general corporate purposes.

For Worldpay, being a private company provides numerous advantages including the ability to pursue acquisition opportunities which will accelerate growth, and greater ability to prioritize investments in innovation and product development that drive growth and expansion in the rapidly evolving payments markets.

Finally, the new separation path means FIS will maintain a minority stake in Worldpay, which will allow it to benefit from upside in the business while preserving the strong commercial partnership between the companies.

2. How did the deal come about since the time of the initial spin announcement?

Since February's announcement, FIS received several expressions of interest to buy its Merchant Solutions business from parties who see significant growth potential for Worldpay and want to invest in its future success. The FIS Board of Directors and management team have carefully evaluated the benefits of this new separation path and determined it is a win-win for both companies, setting both FIS and Worldpay up for future success and growth.

3. How much of the valuation is contingent upon performance?

FIS has the opportunity to receive up to $1 billion of consideration contingent on the returns realized by GTCR exceeding certain thresholds.

4. How much of a stake will FIS retain in Worldpay?

At close, FIS will retain a non-controlling 45% ownership interest in a new standalone joint venture.

5. How would the additional $1.25 billion of funding by GTCR affect the minority ownership stake of FIS?

FIS will have the option to co-invest pari passu.

6. What will the proceeds from the sale be used for?

Proceeds from the sale will be used by FIS to strengthen its balance sheet by paying down debt, repurchasing shares and for general corporate purposes - all critical financial steps that will propel future innovation and growth, drive investment back into the business, and accelerate shareholder value creation.

7. How quickly does FIS plan to pay down debt? What is the timeline for share repurchases?

FIS expects to use a portion of the proceeds to pay down debt to approximately $10 billion, reducing leverage to approximately 2.5x upon close on a pro-forma basis for the transaction. The remaining net proceeds of approximately $2.5 billion will principally be used for share repurchases as the Company sees significant value in the current stock price for shareholders, as well as for general corporate purposes.

8. Does this conclude the overall strategic review at FIS?

As always, FIS will continue to evaluate opportunities to enhance shareholder value.

9. Will FIS have any oversight of Worldpay?

As previously planned, Charles Drucker will become CEO of Worldpay upon close of the transaction and will work closely with the team to continue executing its strategy and operations as an independent company. FIS will maintain a meaningful 45% minority stake and will receive ample Board representation, including Stephanie Ferris joining the Worldpay Board of Directors.

10. Will FIS and Worldpay maintain an ongoing commercial relationship?

FIS and Worldpay will maintain a commercial relationship, preserving a key client value proposition for both businesses. FIS will continue to leverage Worldpay as a distribution channel beyond its core financial services markets, while Worldpay's clients will continue to have access to FIS' suite of next-generation banking and treasury solutions. The companies are finalizing the terms of the commercial agreements and will provide an update in due course.

11. When will the transaction close?

The transaction is expected to close by Q1 2024 subject to regulatory approvals and customary closing conditions.

12. Will there be a net operating loss for tax purposes associated with the transaction?

No, there will not be a net operating loss generated due to the transaction. FIS originally acquired Worldpay in a tax-free transaction resulting in carryover tax basis and no gain upon the original acquisition.
